MONDAY.

It all depends upon what you want in a soap. If you require simply a dirt remover, almost any soap will do. But if you care at all about the thing which is to be washed, you must think twice before you act. Any soap will clean linens and muslins, but Ivory Soap leaves them as white as snow. Any soap will clean sheets and table cloths, but Ivory Soap leaves no coarse, strong odor. Try it once!

WANT MORE MONEY.

FOR ALL THIS HONEY.

PACIFIC BEE MEN TO CONGREGATE IN LOS ANGELES TODAY.

They Propose to Organize a Million-dollar Combine to Handle the Seven Millions Annual Honey Output on This Coast.

The Pacific Honey Producers, who are to meet at the Chamber of Commerce today and tomorrow, are seriously thinking of increasing their capital stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000, as this seems necessary to take in all the various bee interests offered on the Pacific Slope.

Many requests have been made for stock and bonds to be paid for in cash instead of bees and appliances. The bee men are so enthrallled by the idea of buying more swarms, and there are now a dozen bees men who have a thousand swarms each, who have nearly twice as many as some of these big bee men can ship five or more carloads of honey apiece.

Among the smaller bee owners there are fully a hundred in Southern California alone who have 500 swarms. All of these bee men can get about one hundred and fifty pounds of extracted honey to the colony, if the season is good, and often do average 250 pounds to the colony, getting no surplus and have to often feed honey to their bees, so that the producers think that they should be allowed a good price for their honey, considering the work they take. It is for this reason they are organizing to control their output and not be at the mercy of buyers who bear the market for their own benefit, and to the detriment of the honey producers.

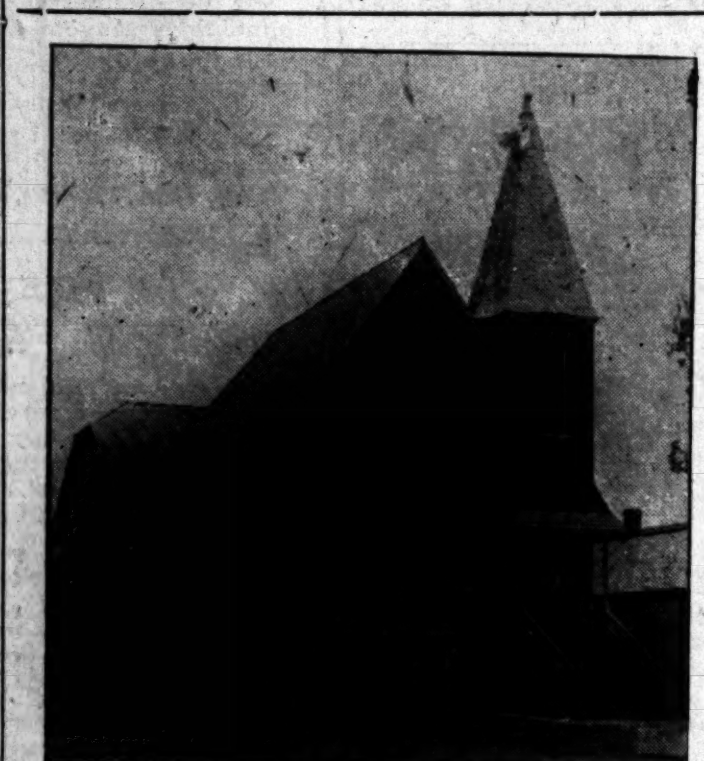

The estimated (Census Office) annual production of honey in this country is set at $20,000,000, over one-third of this coming from the Pacific Slope. While at first thought this may seem large, it is not so when compared to the production of other crops. Southern California and Arizona, making most of the honey, should be allowed to set the price. That is what the Pacific Honey Producers think.

As showing what the demand will be when the supply is limited, Editor Bennett of the Pacific Bee Journal has found it impossible with the aid of the honey producers to produce another car of comb honey, which is asked for by the eastern markets, even if 3 or 4 cents a pound more than the comb honey has mostly come from the East, making prices unobtainable. The figures are slowly advancing and will soon meet the price set by the producers.

CHURCH REJOICES OVER DEDICATION.

YESTERDAY was a great day for the members of the Bellevue-avenue Methodist Church, South. After a struggle for years with adverse circumstances, the church building was dedicated as a house of worship yesterday forenoon, free from indebtedness, and supported by a greatly encouraged and active membership.

J. Chapman, A. L. Hunsaker, T. J. Thornton and its present pastor, E. A. Steller. The present official board is composed of Ulrich Knoth, S. Revis, G. W. Deino, W. A. Stratton and S. M. Stratton. The church has all departments of work organized, and a flourishing Sunday-school and Epworth League.

BELLEVUE-AVENUE CHURCH AND PARSONAGE.

The church was elaborately decorated in white and green, and a large floral cross of amaranth and white roses adorned the space back of the pulpit. Bishop W. W. Duncan, who has been on this Coast holding annual conferences for the past three weeks, had remained in Los Angeles to participate in yesterday's services, and preached the dedicatory sermon.

Bishop Duncan spoke from Jude 1, 2, "Content for the faith that was once delivered unto the saints." He spoke of the corruption and false doctrine which crept into the church, even in the early days, and pointed out the fact that it was equally so in the church today. "As Methodists we should look well to the faith that is within us. Let us examine our experience and faith, and see how they compare with the doctrines preached and practiced by the fathers. I believe it to be true that the church is as fully consecrated to God, and is as active and useful today as at any period in the history of the church. Yet it is true, as it has always been, that there is some worldliness in the church, and it will ever be so as long as the devil is abroad in the land."

Speaking of the problem of dress, the bishop said: "There is religion in the shape of the bonnet or the cut of a gown. There is a pride in the wearing of single garments that is as sinful as the extravagant display made by others who cannot afford it. That which is external does not make character, nor decide our relation to God. 'What Methodism needs is a profound consecration to God. This is what Methodism was, and what it must be today. Content for doctrine, and not externals. Content for real religion. Don't be afraid of the devil."

BISHOP W. W. DUNCAN.

After the sermon, the bishop, in behalf of the membership, tendered the building to the church, and the representative of the general church, and then followed the regular ritualistic service, used on these occasions, and conducted by Bishop Duncan, assisted by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Steller, who has recently come to this pastorate from Nashville, Tenn.

Bellevue-avenue Church was organized in 1858, by Rev. W. B. Stradley, then pastor of Trinity Church, and began its existence as a separate organization with twenty-eight charter members.

A little later, when prospects appeared very bright for the growth of this section of the city, the present building was erected. The two lots owned by the society were valued at $2500, and the building at $6000. A valiant struggle was made to raise the incumbrance on the property, but the coming of the oil wells into that neighborhood drove away many of the resident supporters of the church, and prevented any rapid growth. The little band of worshippers continued their efforts, however, and just before the recent session of the annual conference, the last indebtedness of $1125 was raised, and the congregation stood free from debt.

Now that the oil belt has been clearly defined, that section of the city is again coming to the front, and settling up as a residence district, and the Bellevue-avenue Church is already feeling the impetus of new growth. During its existence the society has been ministered to by the following pastors: Revs. W. B. Stradley, J. F. Finley, C. W. Hoag, T. L. Duke, S.
